Superintendent's Message

Education itself is valueless. It becomes valuable when it helps us to achieve a position in life. It becomes valuable when we use it as a tool in enriching ourselves materially. It becomes valuable when we use it in enjoying cultural advantages.

It is my sincere hope that all of you will use your education, not only in furthering your own interest, but those of your community as well. That you'll be good citizens; that you'll accept community responsibility, and help to make your school a better place in which to achieve this goal.
